

NARDA GRAHAM

Narda Graham is admitted to the Jamaican Bar and is also qualified as a solicitor in England and Wales. She practices Corporate and Commercial Law. She is a graduate of University of London (Master of Laws), City University, London (Bachelor of Laws) and Cornell University, Ithaca, New York (Bachelor of Arts, summa cum laude).

Before joining DunnCox, Narda worked at the London office of the international law firm, Allen & Overy, where she completed her UK training contract mainly in the firm's Banking and International Capital Markets departments, assisting on large multi-jurisdictional transactions such as asset-backed securitizations and infrastructure and real estate financings. As a member of DunnCox's Corporate and Commercial department, Narda has gained experience in pensions legislation, corporate compliance matters, company share acquisitions, loan and security documentation, bond issues, and a wide variety of commercial contracts.

Narda is a member of the Jamaican Bar Association Commercial Law Sub-Committee and speaks Spanish, French and Portuguese.
